YOGA IS BOOMING

The number of American yoga practitioners has increased to over 36 million in 2016, up 76% from 20.4 million in 2012. 28% of all Americans have participated in a yoga class at some point in their lives.

34% of Americans say they are somewhat or very likely to practice yoga in the next 12 months – equal to more than 80 million Americans.

Yoga practitioners report spending over $16 billion on yoga clothing, equipment, classes and accessories in the last year, up from $10 billion in 2012.

Yoga Journal is the primary source of information for yoga teachers and teacher trainees. When asked where they get their information about yoga, 61% reported Yoga Journal, followed by yoga classes (55%) and the Internet (54%).

Yoga Journal LIVE!
OUR MISSION

No matter your personal yoga style or level, only Yoga Journal brings you all of the top teachers, wisdom, and inspiration you need to grow and love your practice both on and off the mat.

Carin Gorrell, Editor In Chief

Carin’s mission is to bring as many people to the yoga mat as possible. Since joining Yoga Journal in December 2013, she has redesigned the magazine cover to cover to better reflect and serve the growing yoga community by delivering on their call for a more welcoming, inclusive voice, more-accessible instruction that meets them wherever they are on the mat, and more timely news and trends. All this while remaining dedicated to honoring the traditions of yoga and maintaining the authority and authenticity of the 40-year-old brand.

Prior to YJ, she worked for 16 years in the magazine industry in New York City, as features director of SELF magazine, health editor at Redbook and a senior editor at First for Women and Psychology Today.

< Carin with recent cover model, Rina Jakubowicz
Yoga Journal was a 2014 and 2015 Adweek Hot List Readers’ Choice finalist for Hottest Health/Fitness Magazine.

Yoga Journal’s editor, Carin Gorrell, and Yoga Journal’s print and online magazines were mentioned in USA Today for growing readership and online page views:

“business is booming,” Gorrell says, “with a growing readership of 2.1 million and over 5 million online page views a month.” (March, 2015)

Carin Gorrell interviewed by the New York Observer on “Yoga’s Newfound Fanatics:”

“I am focused on making ourselves feel more accessible to the new yogi,” Gorrell says. (Sept, 2015)

Carin Gorrell interviewed by the MIN on her role as Editor-in-Chief:

“My enthusiasm for yoga matches that of Americans,” Gorrell says. “Yoga was exotic when YJ launched in 1975. Now it is practiced by 20 million” (Sept, 2015)

DEMOGRAPHICS

The Yoga Journal reader

Yoga Journal readers are educated, affluent women who seek balance in their everyday life. They’re healthy and active, and while they participate in other sports like running, biking, and hiking, yoga is their first love.

They strive to live their yoga both on and off the mat, carrying their conscious philosophies into their relationships with others, and the products they purchase for themselves and their family from food to beauty to clothing to home. And they’re increasingly focused on mindfulness and building a regular meditation practice.
